OPEN THE PRISONS!

Russia, the Soviet Union, was for generations the classic example of political oppression and despotism. She had the innumerable reputation of killing and imprisoning all her finest children—Tolstoy, Russia's tree, Tolstoy, her Gorky, her Dostoevsky, her Chekhov, in the eager and plastic minds of the new generation into forms of beauty, and into efficient instruments of social revolution. Russia is the light of the world.

But the United States has taken up the role which Russia once held. This week the most beloved man in America was shut behind stone and iron, away from the sunshine, away from his family, away from all of us who love him.

What happened to John DeGennaro, that he should end up behind bars like a dog in prison? Had he worked a hand? Had he stolen the pennies of widows and orphans? Had he committed a serious crime? Had he committed a serious cardinal sin? No, these are respectable crimes, for which one need not always go to prison.

But the reason that he loved us so much that he would speak the truth to us and to the world. And at his voice the masters trembled, because they knew that the truth had started to whisper in the foreign ears of workers, that the heart of each of us, and which we dared not speak, because at his words we each went red with shame.

DeGennaro is in Cell 51, West Virginia Penitentiary. Kate O'Hare is convict No. 21669, a woman who has been held up and down the United States thousands of our miles idle in jail and prisons. How long are we to abide this?

OPEN UP THE PRISONS! Open up, you lickspills of Capitalism! You parasites and scoundrels, you degenerate offspring of a once noble race, you district-attorneys and judges you governors and presidents! Before the workers forget, get up, stand up, and brush you aside. OPEN UP THE PRISONS!

The N.W. Appeal is asking pardon for DeGennaro. It would better be asking pardon for DeGennaro.

GIVE THE SOLDIER A JOB.

Retired soldiers are forming head lines in our larger cities; it is impossible to walk the streets without seeing them. One by one in ten men in uniform with a request for assistance. The unemployment situation is growing worse. The soldiers are not even before many months have passed. Not only are the retired soldiers unemployed, but factory and foundry workers and packing houses are laying off men who have been working at top speed for two years and more, and even a small gets into industry he pushes out some other worker.

There is no remedy for this social disease which does not reach right down to the roots of Capitalism. Production, which is the basis for Socialism, will which forever make unemployment a bad memory of the past, we can still only hope that the workers will really relieve the situation and not aggravate it.

Temporary employment by the government at non-productive labor is a poor make-shift. It may keep many from starving, but it does not help the workers to buy the necessities within reach of the masses, and even helps to keep prices up.

Estimated bonuses are jokes, and poor ones at that, while industry is slowing up, factories and packing houses running half-time, and ten applicants for every job are recommended that the Soviet Government be recognized.

The shorter work-day is the only immediate measure that will help the situation. A six-hour day, for example, will shorten the work-day by two hours, to work the workers will help the workers in this situation.

The masters are making frantic efforts to get jobs for soldiers. Do they fear that if they don't get the workers to do the work, the soldiers will put them to work?

Persecution is the navel upon which all the organizations of the working class is being hammered into one.

The man who will organize a society to prohibit prohibitions can have our application any time he wants it.

THE IMMIGRANT HITS BACK.

Foreign-born workers in the United States have been terrorized and harassed for the past two years in a manner without precedent, without any chance of striking back at them—this is the only alternative but submission.

Ignorant and arrogant petty-officials, of the type of Fred Robertson of Kansas, have put the old Black Hundred of Russia to shame, displaying an unexampled "froide" and indifference in dealing with the foreign population.

But every dog has his day. In Kansas City, the immigrant workers and groups of thirty and more arrested, after suffering for two years the pestilence of Robertson, the Russian worker of the K. G. K. colonies sent word to the bankers that they were going to withdraw their money from the property, to move to Mexico or one of the countries.

Today, the immigrant workers, uniting, ruptured. But the concessions come too late, and in places the rulers do not seem to have let up that much.
