ALL THE WAY.

"We certainly learned, from the Russian example, self-sacrifice." These are the words of Bela Kun, quoted by Crystal Eastman in the August Liberator. "Of all the lessons we have learned from the Russian example, one is most needed here in America than the one, the steady accumulation of persecution that is descending upon the movement in this country emphasizes more and more the deadly seriousness of the task we have undertaken, and brings home to us the importance of our participation in the Socialist movement from this time on entails hazards which we must be prepared to face unfinchingly. There can no longer be any doubt that the ruling class of this country is resort to every form of violence and oppression within their power to maintain their rule over the lives and destinies of the workers."

They do not propose to restore any of the traditional and constitutional rights of free expression and to set aside the right of the one-time minority; on the other hand they are gradually reinforcing the federal statutes with State laws of a still more drastic nature. They are marshalling all their forces for war against the workers, and that must put our minds to fight back. There is nothing else to do. A state of war exists and we must put ourselves on a war basis.

The revolutions in the European countries have demonstrated that the proletarian revolution is only possible at the cost of immeasurable suffering and sacrifice. It doesn't come easily, by a gradual transition through the medium of social reform or by the wishes of a majority expressed at a free election. It comes through the efforts of a determined minority, the resolute and the invincible power to impose their will upon all society through a dictatorship. This necessitates the building of a movement composed of those who accept the ideal of Socialism and who are willing to pay the full price whatever it may be. The half-hearted Socialist cannot function any longer.

Socialists of today must be for Socialism first, above everything and in spite of anything. We must make the decision to go all the way in the fight and stake our lives on it.

THE STRIKE EPIDEMIC.

The United States steadily drifts toward that inevitable economic crisis which will mark the complete collapse of the present organization of society. Despite the ap-parent lack of consciousness on the part of the great masses of producers, revolts and strikes are becoming more and more express-sive, as the representatives of the masters and their labor henchmen seem to be powerless to stem the tide.

Jingism has had its day, serving the purposes of those who fostered it, but leaving the victimized with hang-dog faces drawing to a close, the brain dead silenced and the canvas arabs being taken down, the returned soldiers find themselves cast out into the mad scramble in the labor market while the profit makers sit back in high rent houses. Many homeless men are compelled to sleep in the parks with no shelter at all. This condition has been overcome in Hungary by the Working Class Government. The dwelling houses of the rich have been commandeered and these are permitted to occupy more than one room for each person. This is another Communist Altruism.

These strikes cannot be "settled," but will break out in greater magnitude because the cause which underlies them is not going to be removed. High prices will go higher while the bosses resist every effort to increase wage scales. The resistance of the bosses, their efforts to keep the strike at a standstill, the numerous thugs and gun men and the manifest treachery of the old school labor leaders will all tend to deepen the resentment of the workers and develop a conscious purpose among them. This will see the development of the mass fight to break up with the old life living under the present scheme of things. The utter incompetence of craft union labor leaders to adequately represent them or to act for them in any capacity will be made clearer and clearer, as the workers, in their bitter experiences of their fight for life, that they must take things into their own hands and act for themselves. This determination, being arrived at by large bodies of workers of all over the country, will mark the beginning of the revolution.

INTERNATIONALISM.

(By Scott Nearing.)

The stock of the United States Steel Corporation is held by investors in every important industrial section of Europe. Stockholders direct industry and share in profits. Men and women in Europe, owning Steel stock, are able to direct the activities and policies of the corporation.

On June 30, 1919, according to a report issued at the Steel corporation, the labor in Pittsburgh, Gary, Youngstown and Chicago, foreign hold-up of Steel stock were as follows:

Country.	Shares of Com. Stock.
Holland.	210,525
England.	171,970
France.	29,916
Austria.	2,888
Belgium.	2,781
Switzerland.	1,528
Germany.	1,068
Spain.	545

Capitalism has internationalized itself. Enemy aliens (Austrians and Germans) held steel stock all through the war.

Enemy aliens still hold the bonds of part ownership in this enterprise. Has anyone suggested that the officials of the Steel Corporation have been guilty of "giving aid and comfort to the enemy"? Of course, not, among property owners, now.

Capitalism is internationalized. Its object is profit; its symbol is yellow-gold. Some day workers will be internationalized. Their object will be a greater abundance and fulfillment red—the blood-bond of fraternity and comradeship among all men.

The Reverend Burrus Jenkins, editor of the Kansas City Post, is making a campaign against Socialism in Kansas City in ten years, presumably to have them believe what is printed in the Post. Has he no heart at all, to harsh such a cruel thought against innocent people?

The Labor Day committee shows a fine spirit in inviting a number of prominent lawyers and Judges to speak at the Labor Day celebrations. The Bar Association always calls on a member of the teamsters' or Hod-carriers' union to speak at its banquet. Turn-about is fair play.

The Kansas City labor leaders never seem to have any opportunity to reinforce their adherence to the principles and practices of Samuel Gompers. They make a virtue of their sickness.

The President of the Irish Republic, who is in this country in behalf of the demand for Irish Freedom, seems to be getting the glad hand from a large number of enemies of American Freedom.

The Star is disappointed because the strike at the Military Prison didn't result in a "fight" between the prisoners and several hundred of soldiers. The bunching of machine guns on a body of unarmed and defenseless men would conform exactly to the Star's idea of sportmanship.

SOCIALIST EDUCATION.

(By Russell Hankins.)

The supreme task of education, upon the part of the Socialist party, is to make the people of the country fit to take up with the new living under the present scheme of things.

When the workers come into our movement today is the task of education. Upon the part of the Socialist education and the extent to which it is systematically established depends the events of the future.

IEWS, REVIEWS AND INTERVIEWS.

By Ralph Cheyne

I am going to review a book of poetry. I know that one is not in the mood for most poetry after a day's hard work; but this poetry and the book in which it is contained are different from most poetry. It is revolutionary, live and direct; at the point of fiction or essays or homilies of science, of social significance, a proportionately greater amount of poetry is bound to become of more popular appeal than any other form of literature.

It is the book of a poet, a writer of poems, a poet who is a philosopher, a poet who can speak to the heart of the people. If I wanted to sell you a flock of sheep and bring you a flock of sheep, you would not be interested in the beauty of the sheep; but if I wanted to speak to the heart of the people, I would speak to the heart of the people.
